

Deanna Cole

Subject: MyCAA ($6000.00 scholarships for Dependant Spouses)

Hi Dear friends,

I recently learned of a new program for Military Spouses!! RE: MyCAA ($6000.00 scholarship for Dependant Spouses)

I just signed up 3 nights ago with My Career Advancement Account (MyCAA) to see if I can get a scholarship. I have not heard back from an Education Counselor from Mil One Source yet. Note - The MOS Education counselors are backed up 5 business days due to a recent flood of inquirees. "I'm in a calling que" for someone to call me back to go through the verification process. I'll keep you posted.

~Deanna

Use the link below to learn more.

<https://aiportal.acc.af.mil/mycaa/default.aspx>

I included the 1st 3 Frequently Asked Questions posted on their website...

What is a Military Spouse Career Advancement Account (MyCAA)? ... The Department of Defense (DoD) Military Spouse Career Advancement Account, also known as MyCAA, provides employment, career, education/training, counseling and Financial Assistance for Spouses of active duty and activated Reserve Components (Guard and Reserve) Service members world-wide.

What kind of Financial Assistance is available through a Military Spouse Career Advancement Account (MyCAA)? ... The Internet based MyCAA tool allows Spouses to apply for up to $6000 in Financial Assistance for education, training, licensing or certification necessary for their Portable Careers.

Who is eligible for a Military Spouse Career Advancement Account? ... Spouses married to an active duty or activated Reserve Component (Guard or Reserve) Service member (e.g., your Military Sponsor) are eligible to participate in MyCAA. This includes Active Guard/Reserve (AGR) and Coast Guard deployed with the Navy.